MEETING INFORMATION

SYMPOSIUM DESCRIPTION

The mission of the USC Judith D. Tamkin International Symposium on Elder Abuse is to create safe and healthy environments for all elders, here and across the world, by bringing thought leaders, activists, caregivers, researchers, lawmakers, and other stakeholders together to share findings, strategize solutions, and help shape and propel the field of elder abuse and justice.

SYMPOSIUM OBJECTIVES

1. Identify new approaches to methods in elder abuse research.
2. Integrate the concept of community-based participatory research.
3. Identify funding priorities and opportunities in elder abuse research.

TARGET AUDIENCE

This inaugural symposium calls for researchers, academics, physicians, nurses, and psychologists to attend in an endeavor to close the research gaps and move the field of elder abuse forward.

ACCREDITATION
